

STINK LIKE A SKUNK

Crime and city grime are no way to spend your time.
Running with a gang is followed by a bang!
Emerging from the storm with the desire to transform.
The word from the hood is that change will do me good.

Alter is not a cross in the middle of a platform.
Modify is not a rocker that's been transformed.
Change is not coins that have been put into a hat.
Adjust or live in prison—it's as simple as that.

Lungs full of dope crucify my shrinking hope.
Wobbling like a drunk makes me stink like a skunk.
I need to adapt and amend before I go round the bend.
Life's exaggerations terminate with incarceration.

Pushing narcotics brings disruption to your psyche.
You'll bring lamentation to your optimistic soliloquy.
Housebreaking should be demolition, not an excuse to steal.
Let shaking hands be the only way to deal.

Petty crime is humongous if you're noticed by the fuzz.

They now know who you are driving the stolen car.

Supermarket pilfering leaves your options dwindling.

Make sure you've got something to say on Redemption Day.

Different is more than colours of varying tints and hues.

It's revising our habits by following hints and clues.

Reshaping has nothing to do with our appetite.

It concerns the ability of knowing wrong from right.

There's no making sense of aggression and violence.

An eye for an eye mind leaves everybody blind.

Ignore the invitation to agonise with rumination.

Favour truth to false by using the Resolve Course.

Only stupid and fools allow themselves to carry tools.

Misuse of guns and knives leads to the loss of lives.

A friend is not a friend if he's in possession of a weapon.

Armed with common sense is usually the best defence.

Crime and city grime are no way to spend your time.

Running with a gang is followed by a loud bang!

Emerging from the storm with the desire to transform.

The word from the hood is that change will do us good.
